United Land Management-Pringle	WD I

Reading of Exams-Kittay has received a possible inquiry from an operator who cannot read to have an exam read to him. He does not have dyslexia. The Board had previously ruled that exams will be read only to operators with dyslexia. Kittay inquired about reading exams to anyone who is shown by a professional to not be able to read. Further research is needed and the Board asked that the following questions be answered-

Are we required to read exam for anybody that cannot read?

At what reading level do we draw the line? Are we discriminating against non-reader vs someone that has dyslexia? Is there any liability for the Board by certifying an individual that cannot read? At what reading level are the ABC exams written?

Contact Hours-Kittay wanted to discuss what qualifies as contact hours. With the new contact hour requirement, there had been many inquiries as to what may apply. DeBoer suggested that the "need to know" could be a guideline. It was discussed as to the purpose of contact hours which is further education to perform job. The concensus was that as long as the class was related to a job it could qualify. Vansco spoke about awarding hrs for manufacturers' display time at conferences. It was also mentioned about attending meetings such as AWWA Section meetings. No motions were forthcoming.

Other Business-There was none forthcoming.
