I would very much like to see a large majority of these funds to be used on electric vehicle infrastructure. Outside of the Tesla supercharger network, there is no other L3 fast charging network through the state. These funds are a perfect opportunity for South Dakota to get ahead of the fast shift toward electric vehicles. Our state is lacking in total EVs and that is in large part due to a lack of infrastructure. This will also pave a literal path for tourists into the state as well. Using the money from what Volkswagen did to increase electric vehicle adoption is a great use case and I look forward to seeing it being implemented.
